This is a special panoramic place with a great view over the steep Cinque Terre Coast. Andrea will explain you his wine growing methods - respecting the vineyard and the earth, without the use of chemical products. After the return to Riomaggiore on foot, a leisurely hike of about 45 minutes on an ancient pilgrimage path, downhill to Andrea's little wine cellar. With skill and sensitivity he combines modern methods with ancient equipment as the terra-cotta amphorae. During the explanation of his wine making methods you will taste his natural and intense wines which, through their scents and flavors, will transmit you the special characteristics of the place where they have grown - rocks, sea, herbs...The wine tasting is accompanied by typical Ligurian focaccia bread.
